Introduction

Desk lamp is a kind of lamp, which is easy to carry. This appliance is mainly placed on writing desks or dining tables for lighting purposes. The light irradiation range of the table lamp is relatively small and concentrated, so it will not affect the light of the whole room, and the function is limited to the surrounding of the table lamp, which is convenient for reading, learning and energy saving. The table lamp has far surpassed the value of the table lamp itself, and the table lamp has become a rare work of art. Under the concept of light decoration and heavy decoration, the decorative function of table lamps is more obvious.

Acrylic lamps, acrylic is a common material for modern lamps. This type of lighting is famous for its rich colors, fashionable and changeable shapes, light weight and easy to carry. The lampshade can be kept for 8-12 years without yellowing, aging and deformation, and the color is always fresh and bright; glass lamps, glass lamps are the most beautiful lighting in modern lighting. Or antique, or fashionable, or light, or graceful, glass lamps all reflect the full charm

The second common style

Simple lamp, another representative work of simple lighting, simple and bright shape, using modern high-tech, lighting to achieve the mood space change at will. A variety of light effects matching adjustment, multi-level brightness adjustment, healthy energy saving, creating a variety of space mood. Its humanized design meets the lighting needs of different age groups, different moods and different lives; art lamps, the rise of the post-modern wave in the art field, also radiates into the lighting design. Post-modern art elements, the lines are simple and concise, with tension, the design breaks through the visual convention, and presents an avant-garde and alternative image quality.
