What is U-micco Fiber?

U-micco Fiber has many characteristics: air permeability, cushioning characteristics, water permeability, durability, safe, antibacterial properties and kind to the environment to name but a few. Mattresses and pillows made with U-micco Fiber are not prone to sweatiness and this makes it easy for you to move around and turn over in bed at night. U-micco Fiber bedding allows you to sleep as much as you want in comfort. Moreover, U-micco Fiber is widely used in hospitals and care facilities because it is easy to wash and also conforms to SEK standards* to limit the propagation of bacteria.

Designed For All Sleeper Types

Want added firmness – The unique use of airfiber results in a mattress topper that is surprisingly dense and firm. In both testing scenarios (with a medium mattress and with a soft mattress), the addition of the Airweave mattress topper increased the mattress firmness by about 30-50%. The softer the mattress the higher the increase in the firmness will be, while firmer mattresses that add the topper will see a firmness increase, but it will be less dramatic.
Want greater edge support – The density of these fibers also created stronger edge support. This was especially noticeable on the sleep test with the softer (3.5) mattress.
Want nice cooling – Depending on the material composition of the mattress below, some sleepers may notice that this topper makes a mattress cooler. This was more noticeable on a 100% memory foam mattress and less noticeable when used on a combo-foam mattress.
